

Abstract

An adjustable elastomeric leg support for knee, calf or thigh formed of a central body, interdigitating straps and terminal end tabs, secured by means of Velcro hook fasteners adjustably attachable to its elastomeric fabric exterior having a rubberized inner neoprene surface affording comfortable skin adherence that offers the capacity of fitting a variety of sizes and either leg while possessed of a unique leg brace design of interdigitating straps and opening passages to quickly and securely position, loosen or to readjust the brace while affording the capacity to simultaneously tension and bias the brace support system and patella with the use of inner buttresses if so desired.